Governor Inslee Announces:

Construction Is Not Considered Essential

We learned this evening, Governor Jay Inslee has issued guidance that construction is not considered an essential activity in the Stay-at-Home Order announced on Monday.

Consequently, all construction activities other than those exceptions listed in his order must cease for the two week period.

URGENT WBMA Members:

Be sure to verify all deliveries before the trucks leave the yard.

There has been no change to the classification of Hardware stores and Home Centers from the initial order and LBM Dealers are still considered essential.

The WBMA Office is not classified as an essential business, however we are working remotely and available to return messages and phone calls. We will continue to monitor COVID-19 as it relates to the LBM industry and provide updates as they develop.
